Teacher's Bible Study

Traumatic is the only word that comes to mind when describing what it must have been like for the four young men in our story this week. They were dragged into captivity at the beginning of their manhood. They were put in a position to conform to Nebuchadnezzar's pagan society. It must have been overwhelming.

Daniel and other young Jewish men were deported to Babylon as teenagers in 605 B.C. They were to be trained as civil servants in the cosmopolitan empire of King Nebuchadnezzar. The character of Daniel to do what is right is shown in a series of five events in the book of Daniel. Through these events, Daniel was advanced to the highest position in the administration of three empires.

Nebuchadnezzar's army came down from Babylon against Jerusalem. They overtook the city and the land of Judah. The city was burned and the people of Jerusalem and Judah were taken as prisoners. The pressure was certainly on these young men to conform to the pagan world.

To begin their preparation in this pagan society, their names were changed. Each of the young men's names contained the name of God, "iah" and "el": Daniel which means "God is my judge"; Hananiah means "God is gracious"; Mishael means "Who is as God"; Azariah means "God has helped." The meaning of Belteshazzar is doubtful, but it probably means "Protect his life." Shadrach is also of doubtful meaning. Meshach may simply mean "Who is this?" and Abednego may mean "Servant of Nabu." Finally, Nebuchadnezzar is the Aramaic form of the Akkadian word Nabu-kudurri-usur, which means "Nabu has protected by inheritance." Nabu was one of Babylon's deities.

The Babylonians in King Nebuchadnezzar's kingdom wanted these young men to forget God. Changing their names would not make them forget their kind and loving Creator, and it did not matter what others called them. Their actions are what mattered. They stood firm, obeyed God, and put their lives in His hands. By refusing the symbols of paganism, they were richly blessed and vindicated.

To prepare for this week's lesson, you are encouraged to read the entire chapters of Daniel 1 and Psalm 119 and also I Corinthians 10:23–33.

Presenting the Bible Story

- Daniel 1:1–2 The first two chapters describe a fulfillment of prophecy. Isaiah had prophesied to Hezekiah that his descendants would be taken captive to serve the king of Babylon (II Kings 20:16–18).
- Daniel 1:3–4 Upon his return to Babylon, King Nebuchadnezzar brought with him the spoils of Judah. Spoils are treasures taken from an enemy after a battle. Articles from the Temple in Jerusalem were placed in the temple of his god in Babylonia (II Chronicles 36:7). Strong, healthy, and intelligent young men from royal families were also brought back.
- Daniel 1:4–5 The young men who were taken captive were physically good looking and blessed with wisdom. They were to learn the language and literature of the people among whom they were now dwelling. They were put through a rigorous three-year course of study. These gifted young men were given the king's food and wine.

New names were given to the four young men. Daniel's name was changed to Belteshazzar; Hananiah's name was changed to Shadrach; Mishael's name was changed to Meshach; and Azariah's name was changed to Abed-Nego.

Daniel made the decision not to defile himself with the king's food or wine. The food came directly from the King's table which was prepared by Gentiles. This alone rendered the food unclean. God had given very specific dietary laws to his people (Leviticus 11:47; Ezekiel 4:18). In addition to this, the king's food had probably been sacrificed and offered to the pagan gods. To partake of this food would be wrong (Exodus 34:15; Deuteronomy 32:37,38). If Daniel and his friends partook of this food, it would send the message that they believed in those false gods. God wants you to stay away from things that will do harm to your body. Can you name a few things that would bring you harm? (Have your students list some things like drugs, smoking, drinking, dirty magazines, and bad movies.) Daniel asked the chief of the eunuchs to be excused from eating and drinking the king's food and wine. This was indeed a courageous act as Daniel was determined to be obedient to God and please Him.

The eunuch was afraid to give in to Daniel's request. This is understandable, as it was his job to see to the well-being of these young men both physically and mentally. The eunuch could lose his life if Daniel and the others became ill. Daniel asked for just ten days. He asked that they be given vegetables and water and then compare their appearance with those that ate the king's food. Daniel trusted that God would intervene on his behalf. As we see, God did intervene and the four young men were given vegetables and water.

At the end of the ten-day test, the four young men were in better shape than those who ate the king's food. Since the four young men looked better, Ashpenaz did not object to allowing Daniel and the others to continue the diet of vegetables and water. Now God does not prohibit eating meat (Genesis 9:3; Romans 14:4; I Corinthians 10:25–26). Remember why these young men did not eat from the king's table. God

Nebuchadnezzar believed he was preparing these young men for his royal court. In truth, God was preparing them. It was God who gave them knowledge and understanding. Knowledge has to do with having reasoning skills and the ability to process thoughts. Understanding has to do with insight. God gave them the ability to interpret things in their true light. These young men were repeatedly found wiser than anyone else in the king's realm.
